

The Giant of Africa takes bold strides to invest in early years

A year ago, if you had asked me how best a child could reach its potential, I would have looked through my myopic, public health, physician's lens, and responded that making sure children (0-5years) are healthy and well-nourished is all it takes.

However, six months into the World Bank's "Africa Early Years" fellowship and I realize I would have been abysmally wrong.

Source URL: <http://www.asareca.org/content/giant-africa-takes-bold-strides-invest-early-years>